MP FINED AFTER NUISANCE CALLS

Lammy bombarded voters with recorded messages in failed mayoral bid

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

TOTTENHAM MP David Lammy has been fined £5,000 after he unwittingly authorised thousands of nuisance calls in his failed bid to become Labour's nomination for London's mayor.

A total of 35,000 recorded messages were made after he engaged an automated service provider last August to ring London Labour Party members in a bid to bolster his support.

The Information Commissioner's Office fined him after finding he had broken the rules by failing to gain the permission of those being contacted.

The recorded message by the Labour MP said: "Hi, it's Dave Lammy here. I'm sorry this is a recorded message, but I wanted to try and reach as many people as possible to ask for your vote for London mayor."

It then went on to outline manifesto pledges before saying: "Thanks for listening. You can go and read my plan on lammyfor-mayor.com or press 9 if you don't want to receive any more messages. Thank you."

Christopher Graham, the Information Commissioner, said that the same rules applied to political groups canvassing for votes as to salespeople.

"If you want to call someone in this way, you must follow these rules. Mr Lammy did not and that is why he has been fined.

"It's not good enough to assume the people you're contacting probably won't mind.

"The law requires you to have permission before making calls with recorded messages and if the law isn't followed, the regulator will act."

Mr Lammy apologised "unreservedly" to Labour Party members and registered voters who had been "upset" by receiving the automated calls for his campaign.

"If I had known that additional permission was required to make automated calls, then I would have sought it before any calls were made," he said.

Mr Lammy finished fourth in the Labour Party race, picking up 10 per cent of the vote. Labour chose Sadiq Khan as their candidate to contest the London mayoral election to be held on May 5.

Paris has them rolling in the aisles – in Parliament

TELLING gags as a stand-up comedian could be a future career for schoolgirl Paris Hudson after she had MPs chuckling in a joke-telling competition.

The 11-year-old pupil at Hollickwood Primary School in Sydney Road, Muswell Hill, was among 20 finalists of a contest for UK schools held at the Houses of Parliament.

And she had MPs – including the Speaker of the House of Commons John Bercow – chortling by cracking this rib-tickling gag: "Why did the elf buy a phone for Christmas? Because he wanted to take an Elfie."

Paris was taking part in the annual Voice Box joke competition organised by the Royal College of Speech and Language Therapists in partnership with the Communication Trust. It is aimed at highlighting the need for support for children and adults who have language impairment and difficulties communicating.

Paris, who wants to be a comedian, a gymnast or a writer when she grows up, said: "I felt a bit embarrassed. I'd never done anything like it before and had been practising in front of my nan, auntie and brothers."

There to congratulate and support her was Hornsey and Wood Green MP Catherine West, who said the event demonstrated how good communication skills were vital to help children have the best start in life.

Woman is jailed for cancer scam

A WOMAN who pretended she had cancer to con a charity out of £500 has been jailed for four months.

Alina Alnobani's illness was a complete fabrication, Wood Green Crown Court heard last week.

The 38-year-old, of Green Lanes, Hornsey, had tried the scam on various other charities using forged NHS letters, which detectives from the Met Police's Operation Falcon Fraud Squad discovered after a search of her home.

They detailed how she had approached charities claiming she had cancer and asking for money to fund the cost of treatment, saying the NHS would pay only half the cost.

Among the paperwork was a cheque for £500 from a charity made out to a London hospital to help her fund her "treatment".

Detectives were alerted to the deception after she was offered a job at a Kensington hotel and supplied forged references on letter-headed paper from different companies.

When arrested, she told police she had been diagnosed with benign bone cancer sarcoma in November 2014 and at the time could not walk or stand on her feet.

She explained copies of NHS letters were to seek financial aid from embassies and charities to fund an operation.

However, the NHS confirmed to detectives that the letters were forgeries and that it did not take part in schemes to split the cost.

The court heard there was no trace of Alnobani on the NHS patient database and no documentation in her medical history to support a diagnosis of bone cancer or sarcoma.

Detective Constable Farah Nain said: "Alnobani's attempts to defraud charities could have deprived someone genuinely suffering from a serious illness from being the beneficiary of charitable funds".

Still on board: The Mayor of London Boris Johnson

'I still back scheme,' Boris tells Burrowes

By Ruth McKee
ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE Mayor of London has rejected an MP's appeal to step in and stall Mini-Holland.

David Burrowes, MP for Enfield Southgate, wrote to Boris Johnson last month, asking him to halt funding for the plans to create partially segregated cycle lanes along Green Lanes, from Palmers Green to Enfield Town.

Mr Burrowes argued that money should not be given to Enfield Council by Transport for London until the local authority carried out further consultation with local residents over the scheme.

Initially, Mr Johnson appeared to agree with Mr Burrowes, saying that "more engagement" was needed before Cycle Enfield could proceed.

However, in a letter to the MP from the mayor, dated March 8, he says that the planned statutory consultation that will accompany the detailed proposals, which will be put before the public later this year, "meets the need for further engagement".

In a paragraph that will please council chiefs, the mayor adds: "I do not wish to see the scheme cancelled."

"The council has followed all the correct procedures and TfL's legal advice is that there is no basis for refusing to release funding."

He finishes by telling Mr Burrowes that he hopes the consultation process that will come with the detailed proposals would "allay your concerns".

Undeterred, and adamant that his stance represents the majority of his constituents, Mr Burrowes told this paper: "The mayor, TfL and the council do not have broad public approval for Cycle Enfield."

"It does not make sense to press ahead with the A105 scheme while engaging further with the Enfield Town scheme."

"I will continue to press for the voice of most of my constituents to be heard."

"I look forward to working with Zac Goldsmith as a new Conservative mayor who accepts the need for public consent for Cycle Enfield."

'No evidence' that scheme will boost local economy, say critics

THE battle for Green Lanes goes on after a campaign group calling for a halt to cycling infrastructure plans published an open letter against the scheme this week.

The Save Our Green Lanes group, headed by businessman Costas Georgiou, and Helen Osman, the founder of N21 Online, have sent this paper a five-page letter dissecting claims, made in a letter from the Enfield Cycling Campaign to mayor of London Boris Johnson, that the introduction of partially segregated cycle lanes would boost the economy of the borough.

The Save Our Green Lanes team write: "If there was any credible evidence of such schemes boosting the local economy, would shopkeepers not be 'champing at the bit' to see it implemented?"

"In reality there is no data to suggest any such impact – and even the council's own commissioned economic evaluation report concludes this."

They argue that taking away some on-street parking spaces and the ability to park on single yellow lines on the weekends and at night will negatively affect the "night-time economy" of Green Lanes with restaurants and takeaways likely to lose customers if people are forced to park either a few streets away or in a car park.

Last week, a policy officer at City Hall replied to the letter pro-cycle campaigners wrote to the Mr Johnson and his cycling tsar Andrew Gilligan.

William Bradley, the policy officer for Transport for the Greater London Authority said: "I can confirm that neither the mayor nor TfL intend to withhold any funds from Enfield Council."

"We continue to work closely with the council to progress the wide range of exciting schemes that make up the full Cycle Enfield programme."

"This position was also made clear to David Burrowes MP in a recent letter."

Wildlife haven gets off the ground

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Call of the wild: Campaigners, right, including Toni Guiver, sitting on bench, celebrate the official opening of Firs Farm Wetlands, above

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

HERONS, tawny owls, frogs and ducks are all living harmoniously in a new, revamped marshy home in the borough.

The Firs Farm Wetlands opened last week after a year of painstaking work to transform the unloved football pitches, off Firs Lane, Winchmore Hill, into a haven for wildlife.

"It was absolutely fantastic," said Toni Guiver, chairwoman of the Friends of Firs Farm, who have championed the transformation from the outset and won £175,000 in funding for the scheme from City Hall's Green Fund to pay for the revamp.

Now there is a network of streams, marshes and ponds on the land, criss-crossed by paths and cycle tracks that allow children a close-up and personal look at nature.

Mrs Guiver said: "It was beautiful. There was a little girl with her grandfather. She loved the stepping stones across one of the waterways and kept bringing her grandfather back and forth across them.

"I think he was exhausted, but the little girl clearly loved it and apparently she's brought her grandad there everyday since they found them. That's what we need for our children – safe places where they can play and experience nature."

The community campaigner has revealed that already the wetlands network, which defends the low-lying homes surrounding the fields from flooding, by providing absorbent reed beds and deep channels for surface water to flow through, has attracted all sorts of creatures, great and small.

"The other day we were lifting a wooden board that had been sitting across some water and some frogs leapt out, it was a bit of a shock," she added, laughing as she explained that frogs are not her favourite members of the animal kingdom.

Although a lot of work has already been completed, the Friends of Firs Farm group has even more ambitious plans which, it hopes, will be finalised by the summer.

As well as a new pond dipping platform, a large outdoor education area and a woodland walk protected by pear, apple and plum trees, the group is excited that the wildflowers planted last year will be in full bloom by the summer.

Snowdrops land gardens gold star Spring has sprung at farm

BLOOMING marvels at a stately home have scooped a top prize from the Royal Horticultural Society.

The mild winter has sparked a snowdrop bonanza in the grounds of Myddelton House, in Bulls Cross, Enfield, and the flowers formed part of a display that won a gold award at the society's London early spring plant fair last month at the RHS Lawrence Hall and the Lindley Hall, in Westminster.

The display, created by the Plant Heritage London group, which works to preserve and protect rare and heritage varieties of flowers, used plants from several prominent gardens in the city, including Buckingham Palace as well as the eight-acre Myddelton House Gardens. Myddelton House is associated with heritage snowdrops thanks to former resident EA Bowles, who cultivated many varieties of the flower in the gardens of the manor house.

Head gardener James Hall said: "It's a terrific honour to be able to contribute to the group's display and we were really chuffed to have won this prestigious prize.

"Myddelton House Gardens are well-known for their impressive snowdrops, which mark the start of the year, and visitors will find that there is so much more to see here whatever time of year."

BEAUTIFUL baby lambs frolicking in the fields are a sight to gladden anyone's heart.

And there's a great chance to see them in all their glory as Forty Hill Farm throws open its gates to celebrate the joys of spring this weekend.

The annual lambing weekend takes place at the farm, in Forty Hill, Enfield, on Saturday and Sunday.

As well as the new-born lambs, there will be opportunities to meet and feed other animals.

Rural craft demonstrations will provide a further taste of the country life and for those keen to experience a slice of rural England in the heart of suburbia there will also be Morris dancing and a chance to try your hand at sheep shearing.

The farm will be open from 11am to 4pm on both days and there will be a shuttle bus running from Capel Manor College, in Bullsmoor Lane. Admission is £4 for adults, £2 for children and free for three-year-olds and under.

Attention: DENTURE WEARERS

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!
If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:

- Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
- Are they loose?
- Do not cut food as well as they used to?
- Do they make your face look older?
- Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
- Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

Teen found guilty of knife killing as three are jailed

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER has been jailed for the manslaughter of a teaching assistant in Enfield last summer.

Michael Adegbite, from Chingford, was stabbed to death in Lackmore Road, Bullsmoor, in July 2015 after a botched robbery.

Christopher Nzeh, 18, from Hitchin, Hertfordshire, was found not guilty of murder and guilty of his manslaughter at a trial at the Old Bailey. He had pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit robbery and possession of a bladed article.

Last week he was jailed for 21-and-a-half years in total.

Montel Ajayi, 19, from Waltham Cross, was sentenced to five years after pleading guilty to conspiracy to commit robbery.

Isaac Owen-Brady, 18, of Blossom Lane, Enfield, was found guilty of possession of the knife which killed the fitness coach and model.

He had also pleaded guilty to robbery and possession of a bladed article at a previous hearing in relation to a separate offence and was jailed for 12 years in total.

The three teenagers had lured Mr Adegbite to a car park in Auckland Close on the evening of July 19 under the pretence of buying his laptop which a friend had advertised on Gumtree on his behalf.

Mr Adegbite and his friend arrived at the meeting place and the laptop was passed around the three teens as they pretended to buy it.

One of them then produced a knife and threatened Mr Adegbite and his friend – but Mr Adegbite snatched back the laptop.

As the three robbers made off, Mr Adegbite

Stabbed to death: Michael Adegbite

phoned another friend and explained what had happened. This friend, who lived nearby, soon appeared on the scene with a metal bar and a hammer. Mr Adegbite and the two others then drove around looking for the teens who had tried to rob them. They found them a short time later in Lackmore Road.

Mr Adegbite got out of the car carrying the metal bar. Witnesses then described seeing Nzeh swinging at Mr Adegbite with a knife and miss. He stabbed him a second time and Mr Adegbite fell to the ground with a single stab wound to the chest.

The London Ambulance Service were on the scene by about 7pm and by 7.31pm he was pronounced dead by paramedics.

The three suspects had fled, but a passing motorist overheard a woman say they had made off along Elsing Road, into the Elsing estate. The motorist set off in pursuit and saw three teens walking quickly and looking over their shoulders. He followed them while calling police and telling them where the suspects were. He also took pictures of the fleeing suspects.

Police officers arrived on the scene shortly afterwards and all three suspects were arrested.

A knife that was covered in Mr Adegbite's blood was later found hidden in a garden on the route the three suspects had taken as they fled from the scene.

In a statement given after sentencing, Mr Adegbite's family made a plea for young men to stop carrying knives on the streets of London as "a fitting tribute to Michael and everything he stood for".

They added: "We have been shattered by the decision of Christopher Nzeh to carry a knife. Michael had never been in trouble with the police and was a young man who had everything to live for.

"We urge people to think about the tragic consequences that can come from carrying a knife and never to take your personal safety for granted. We wish to thank everyone for all their support in this dark period. Thank you to the members of the public who gave assistance at the scene on July 19 and thereafter."

"We would also like to say thank you to Michael Gbenga Adegbite for all of the joy, laughter and happiness you brought into our lives. Please continue to watch over and guide us with your infectious smile and joyous spirit. We miss you dearly and love you with all our hearts and more."

Man, 41, charged over fatal stabbing

NEIGHBOURS stunned by the fatal stabbing of a woman have laid flowers and candles in her memory.

Lyndsay Smith, 42, was attacked at her home in Enfield Lock just after midnight in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Bouquets were laid at the scene paying tribute to the woman whom one neighbour described as "lovely".

The man, who asked not to be named, said: "I knew her to say hello to and pass the time of day. She was always out walking her dog. It's shocking, absolutely horrible, what has happened."

Forensics officers were gathering evidence at the crime scene on Monday morning and police were stationed outside the house in Ostell Crescent.

Gavin Wilson, 41, of the same address, who has been charged with murder, was remanded in custody by Highbury Corner magistrates on Monday and is due to appear at the Old Bailey today.

Anyone with information is being urged to call the incident room on 020 8345 3734 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Ringleaders jailed for roles in 'record-breaking' jewel heist

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE two Enfield-based ringleaders of the £14million Hatton Garden jewellery heist, Daniel Jones and Terry Perkins, have been handed jail sentences totalling 14 years.

Hugh Doyle, 49, of Riverside Gardens, Enfield, escaped a prison term when he was handed a suspended sentence.

Sentencing the key players behind the heist, Judge Christopher Kinch QC told Woolwich Crown Court last week: "The burglary of the Hatton Garden Safe Deposit company in April 2015 has been labelled by many as the biggest burglary in English legal history.

"It is clear that the burglary at the heart of this case stands in a class of its own in the scale of ambition, the detail of planning, the level of preparation, the organising of the team to carry it out and in terms of the value of property stolen." As family and friends looked down on the six men in the dock from a packed public gallery, the judge described Jones, 60, of Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park, as "a ringleader, at the heart of the extensive planning and regular meetings both before and after the Easter weekend".

"Based on the transcripts and on your build, you appear to have been along with 'Basil' [the so far unidentified mastermind of the raid] one of the two who actually entered the vault area on the second night and broke open boxes," the judge said.

He added that at Jones's home, police had found facemasks, a drill and cash, and the now infamous book Forensics for Dummies.

Jones had pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit burglary at an earlier hearing and was sentenced to spend seven years behind bars.

Perkins, 67, of Heene Road, Enfield, was also described as a "ringleader" of the operation by the judge.

"When your home address in Enfield was searched, the police found jewellery, cash, blue overalls, five pairs of white fabric gloves and a quantity of euros," said the judge.

Like Jones, he had entered a guilty plea at an earlier hearing and was also jailed for seven years.

Doyle was found guilty at trial of concealing, converting or transferring criminal property at trial.

As he stood in the dock dressed in a navy T-shirt and trousers with the logo of his plumbing company on them, he was told by the judge: "You may have been somewhat in awe of these old school villains."

He added: "Perhaps you were flattered to be asked. It may be fortunate for you that the arrests happened when they did and there was no opportunity for you to be called on to do anything more than provide a venue for the sensitive handover of a large quantity of stolen jewellery."

Doyle was able to walk free after the judge sentenced him to 21 months in prison, suspended for two years.

John Collins, 75, of Islington, north London, who was also described as a ringleader in the heist operation and had pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to conspiracy to commit burglary, was jailed for seven years.

Carl Wood, 59, of Cheshunt, was sentenced to six years in prison after being found guilty of conspiracy to burgle.

Brian Reader, from Dartford, Kent, another of the heist's ringleaders, was not at court for sentencing last Wednesday, after illness prevented him from attending.

William Lincoln, 60, of Bethnal Green, east London, was jailed for seven years after being found guilty conspiracy to burgle and for seven years or conspiracy to conceal, convert or transfer criminal property, the sentences to run concurrently.

As the sentences were handed down, each man said: "Thank you, sir".

Sentenced: Terry Perkins, top, and Daniel Jones, middle, were each jailed for seven years; Hugh Doyle, bottom, was given a suspended sentence

Police probe fire at farm

POLICE are investigating a huge fire that tore through a farm in the north of the borough two weeks ago.

The fire brigade and police were called to the blaze at Guy Lodge Farm, in Whitewebbs Lane, Enfield, at 2am on Tuesday, March 1.

The flames tore through a stack of wooden pallets in the farmyard and destroyed a timber storage warehouse.

It took more than 70 firefighters four hours to get the fire under control. Ten fire crews battled the flames and that morning's rush-hour drivers were affected by smoke and ash from the fire drifting across the M25.

Two men escaped from a caravan on the farm before the fire brigade arrived. About 35 propane gas cylinders were removed from the site.

Police have yet to establish the cause of the fire and are asking anyone who saw anything suspicious or who has any information to contact Detective Sergeant Tony Mortimer or Detective Constable Martyn Linton, from Enfield CID on 020 8345 3311, quoting reference 5204558/16.

A 35-year-old man arrested on the same day on suspicion of arson has been released on police bail until a date early in April.

FIREFIGHTERS are warning of the dangers of electric heaters after a garden shed went up in flames last week.

The fire brigade was called to a fire in the shed of a house in New River Crescent, Palmers Green at 1.45am on Thursday.

The shed is thought to have been used as living quarters and had a bed, furniture and personal belongings inside.

The blaze is thought to have started when bedding was left too close to a convection heater and caught fire.

No one was injured in the blaze, but the shed was damaged by smoke and fire.

Warning against the dangers of electrical heaters, a fire brigade spokesman said: "Shocking, more than two thirds of fatal fires involving heaters are caused by furniture or clothing being too close.

"People need to make sure their portable heaters are standing upright and kept well away from clothes, curtains or furniture."

Fire chiefs say that no one should ever sit close to one of these heaters as the heat could set fire to clothes or furniture.

Heaters should be stood somewhere where they cannot be knocked over, away from beds and fabrics, and they should never be used to dry clothes.

It took 15 minutes for ten firefighters to get the blaze under control.

Daniel Anderson, Enfield Council's member for environment, said that the local authority was investigating allegations that a shed in New River Crescent was being used unlawfully as a domestic dwelling.

"We will review any evidence we obtain and decide whether there is a criminal case to answer," he added.

Asked about what the council is doing to tackle rogue landlords who illegally rent out uninhabitable living quarters, Mr Anderson said it had received government funding to "tackle rogue landlords renting out beds in sheds, illegal conversions and substandard accommodation".

The funding has resulted in joint raids by housing enforcement, planning enforcement and partners with more planned, he added.

"By the end of this month planning enforcement will have served 226 enforcement notices on beds in sheds and illegal conversions," he said.

"We have served three demolition orders so far, successfully prosecuted three landlords for illegal conversions and there are a number of prosecutions pending."

Residents and tenants can report beds in sheds and poor conditions in the privately rented sector on the council's hotline number, 07984 614565, or by emailing housing.enforcement@enfield.gov.uk.

Women and children are rescued from burning building

THREE women and two children were rescued by firefighters from a burning building in Edmonton last Wednesday.

More than 20 firefighters battled the blaze in a block of flats in Fore Street.

A woman and her two children and two other women were all led to safety by fire crews, who battled flames in the nine-storey building for more than an hour. The fire brigade was called to the scene at 12.45pm and the fire was brought under control by 2.09pm.

The electrical cupboard on the ground floor was damaged in the blaze and the fire caused a power failure in the block of flats.

The women and children suffered from smoke inhalation and were treated at the scene by the London Ambulance Service.

The fire came just two weeks after Enfield Council chiefs pledged their commitment to fire safety in communal blocks of flats after the Advertiser revealed that there had been 18 flat fires in the borough in the 12 months up to the end of January this year.

Magistrates hit jeweller who sold counterfeit goods in the pocket

A JEWELLER who sold fake goods to shoppers has been fined more than £5,000 by magistrates.

In three visits to Erbil Jewellers in South Mall, Edmonton Green, officials found a counterfeit Cartier bracelet and seized non-hallmarked goods.

Enfield Council then prosecuted Meftuni Erbil, 40, of Sweet Briar Grove, Edmonton, who was the director of the company Citon Ltd, who ran the jewellers. He was prosecuted for offences under the Hallmarking Act 1973 and the Trade Marks Act 1994.

Trading standards officers visited the shop in December 2014 and found that weighing machines were not suitable for purpose. They also requested that all non-hallmarked items be removed from sale.

Because goods had not been hallmarked, the exact purity of precious metal items could not be established and buyers could not be sure they were purchasing legitimate products. Officers confirmed that goods had not been submitted for hallmarking and Erbil was warned that non-hallmarked items would be seized.

Two months later, they went back with staff from hallmarking inspectorate the Assay Office and seized 12 items of non-hallmarked and counterfeit jewellery. A fake Cartier bracelet was found for sale and only after this did Erbil apply to get his items hallmarked.

However, by April last year, officers received a complaint that the shop was selling fake watches and sunglasses and the Assay Office revealed no articles had been submitted to them for assessment.

Erbil was fined £5,480 at Tottenham Magistrates' Court on February 18 in a prosecution brought by Enfield Council.

The council's cabinet member for environment Daniel Anderson said: "Not only did Mr Erbil believe he was above the law by failing to hallmark his jewellery, but it seems he was also selling counterfeit items.

"The council will not tolerate such behaviour and any shop caught selling items such as these will be prosecuted."

Former parish: Leonard Skinner worked at St Peter's Church from 1970 to 1980

Former vicar guilty of abuse waits to learn his sentence

A FORMER vicar who is facing a possible jail term was due to be sentenced late yesterday after pleading guilty to four counts of sexual abuse against two boys in the 1970s.

Leonard Skinner, 79, who had worked as a vicar at St Peter's Church, in Vera Avenue, Grange Park, between January 1970 and May 1980, appeared at Blackfriars Crown Court, having pleaded guilty at Highbury Magistrates' Court last month to two counts of indecent assault on a boy under the age of 14 and two counts of indecent assault on a boy under 16.

Magistrates had heard how Skinner had befriended one of the children, gained his trust and then abused him on "numerous occasions" between January 1972 and June 1975.

Another person reported allegations to the police in October last year and detectives from the Met Police's sexual offences, exploitation and child abuse command investigated.

Skinner was interviewed under caution on November 24 and was charged on January 28 this year.

Detective Constable John Ritsema, from the Met's sexual offences, exploitation and child abuse command, said: "Skinner used his role in a position of trust, as well as his friendly demeanour, to gain access to his victim.

"I would like to pay tribute to the courage of the victim in speaking out against Skinner. It was his testimony that secured the charges and enabled this case to be brought to court."

Man charged with child sex assaults

A MAN has been charged with almost 30 historic allegations of sexual assault at children's care homes.

Philip Temple, 66, of no fixed address, is accused of 27 offences of sexual assault against 12 children and two counts of perjury.

The offences are alleged to have taken place between 1971 and 1998 in children's care homes managed by the former Christ the King Monastery in Bramley Road, Southgate, Wandsworth Council and Lambeth Council.

Temple was charged with the offences last Tuesday as part of the Met Police's Operation Trinity after two allegations of historic abuse were reported to detectives in November 2012.

He was remanded in custody when he appeared at Bromley Magistrates' Court until Wednesday, April 6, when he is due to appear at Croydon Crown Court.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which? Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and manager Richard Power agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

Best foot forward: Library Cafe owner Urvashi Roe is training hard for the London Marathon

Urvashi's in it for the long stretch

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

POUNDING a treadmill while watching food programmes seems an entirely fitting way for a bake-off star to train for the London Marathon.

Urvashi Roe, owner of the Library Cafe, in Enfield Town Library, in Church Street, is in the midst of training for the marathon on April 24 and swears by her regime of endurance and interval training on the gym treadmill, whiling away the hours of training by learning new cooking techniques and recipes.

She is running the 26 miles and 385 yards to raise money for Action Against Hunger – a charity which supports people living in parts of the world without access to basic nutrition.

She told the Advertiser: “They’re an amazing charity and I feel very confident that the money that I raise is going as directly as possible to the projects.

“There is so much bad press about the larger charities and about how much money actually gets through to those in need. But these guys are a really small team based in London.”

In a bid to raise awareness of how much a plentiful supply of food is taken for granted, in the West, Urvashi organised a series of supper clubs in the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, to raise money for the cause.

“Even simple things like bread, the people this charity helps cannot make it,” she added. “They don’t have access to an oven, or their community ovens are kilometres and kilometres away, so they have to walk there.

“So something as simple as bread is just not available to people and I wanted to do fundraising that was linked to food.”

The supper club events were a challenge in themselves, she said, as presenting consistently delicious food to 30 guests is no mean feat.

She explained: “I also wanted to raise awareness about traditional Gujarati cuisine. That is the region my family is originally from.

“In this country there is a tendency to use curry as a synonymous word for anything that has chilli and spices in it – but that is slowly changing with more people understanding about regionality of cooking.”

Anyone who wants to donate money to Urvashi’s cause can do so by visiting www.justgiving.com/urvashiroe

But more than big sums of cash, she is hoping that people will also provide her with a song she can add to her marathon playlist which will motivate her around the course.

She says all suggestions are welcome and will add to her already jam-packed playlist made up of Taylor Swift songs, hits of the 1960s and even a few Bollywood anthems.

TRANSPORT FOR LONDON
EVERY JOURNEY MATTERS

Columnist

Terry
NevilleEnfield Council
Conservative group leader

THE announcement about Crossrail 2 by Lord Adonis, chairman of the National Infrastructure Commission, is a very significant move towards achieving a much-needed further boost to our transport system.

We cannot open the champagne just yet because Lord Adonis makes it clear in his report that the present costings, £27billion, are too high and a better business case is required, which should in his view mean London paying at least half the cost.

We're told that Crossrail 2 needs immediate funding of £160million to do further preliminary work and I hope that George Osborne will agree to make that funding available in today's annual budget statement.

The significance for Enfield cannot be overstated, for if implemented the line would go along the eastern corridor of the borough, providing a direct and speedy route for residents there to and from central London.

However, there is also an option to take the route via Turnpike Lane (supported by Haringey) or to New Southgate, providing a boost to the west of the borough, which I favour, not just for a sort of Enfield jingoism, but for the reason that if we do not get New Southgate, much of the spin-off investment I have mentioned, particularly retail, will go to Haringey.

Enfield has lagged behind other London boroughs over the past few years in a number of measures, but all that could be changed by the certainty of Crossrail 2.

Indeed it is not an exaggeration to say that we could be witnessing what our forefathers saw at the turn of the last century when the railway first came to Enfield.

There is much strength in unity, Mr Burrowes

I HAVE received from my MP David Burrowes a letter addressed to all his constituents explaining why he will not support remaining in the EU.

Expanding on his EU-sceptic views, he indirectly proselytises for Vote Leave.

Under the circumstances and as a pro-EU individual, I felt: a) that I needed to reply to him personally expressing my own views and b) that as a recipient of his letter to all local constituents and as a UK citizen, I would like to try to remove through your good paper's services the letter's impression that the EU is sclerotic and out of date.

The EU is a project that amalgamates solidarity, strengthens their members' political and economic power inside and outside the union and creates a network of relationship between states that enhances stability and peace.

In today's interconnected world it should not be otherwise. Why be alone when there is strength in unity? Isolation may produce the impression of immaculate sovereignty, but it reduces power.

The pre-war years produced suspicions, fragmentations and, eventually, evil regimes. Who would want to risk anything like this today?

Furthermore, Mr Putin is watching and waiting for opportunities to destabilise democratic Europe.

The EU is not perfect and the current migrant crises is not helping, but, like in most marriages, the solutions are within and not in an "easy" divorce.

Why fare dodgers love the new Routemasters

I HAVE been interested to read London mayoral candidate Sadiq Khan's comments regarding Transport for London funding if he becomes responsible for it in May.

His statement concerning losses due to fare evasion is indeed true, and who is to blame for much of this? Boris Johnson. Not only are his ridiculous new Routemaster buses a blatant waste of public funds, costing far more to build than other buses, they also invite fare evasion just as much as the bendy-buses he got rid of – indeed all the more so since there are more of them.

All of the 1,000 buses of this type have three doors (just as bendybuses did) through which passengers may board. Worst of all, and contrary to one of the supposed reasons for building these contraptions, the majority of them do not have a conductor minding the rear entrance, where, of course, those not intending to pay a fare will slip aboard unnoticed.

Contrary to what TfL may claim, the chance of being caught without a valid ticket or pass by an inspector is very slim. Nowadays, it is often the case that, on the rare occasions they do make checks, revenue inspectors "raid" such buses mob-handed, even assisted by police, to avoid being attacked by unruly passengers.

I was amused to observe this on a number 149 in Fore Street, Edmonton, some months back. The result was that a very large number of passengers were caught. Clearly, such fraudsters will always take advantage of what they perceive as a "free bus" just as they did the bendies.

Thank God Boris will be gone from his post at City Hall in May and let us hope that whoever replaces him takes immediate steps to remedy this farcical situation with his "vanity project", the so-called new Routemaster – an insult to the real Routemaster buses, which served London so well between 1956 and 2005. It would have been more to Boris's credit if he had reintroduced trolleybuses to London. They are pollution free and surely the millions wasted on his "vanity" buses would have been better spent in re-establishing the necessary infrastructure needed for these vehicles, which served London cleanly, silently and efficiently between 1931 and 1962.

Dog fouling is a serious matter

I HAVE received a number of complaints about dog fouling on pavements. I have also seen first hand the situation of pavements in my ward.

Allowing dogs to foul pavements without clearing afterwards is illegal, selfish, uncaring, unhealthy and spreads diseases, to say the least.

While there a number of responsible and conscientious dog owners, there is unfortunately a small minority who are behaving in an unacceptable way.

My plea to them is please clear after your dog has fouled the pavement. If not, it presents a health risk to children and all others who use the pavements.

Council monitoring officers are always out and about, but the cooperation of the public is much-needed if we are to combat unacceptable behaviour, be it fly-tipping or dog fouling, along with spitting on the pavement or in the street.

Let us all try to drive these bad habits out by reporting those who do not seem to have any respect for the environment.

Many thanks to heavenly Aphrodite

I AM writing this on International Women's Day as I want your readers to know about one kindly woman from another country who helped me recently.

I had accidentally locked myself in my back garden with no way of getting back into the house.

Standing for ten minutes in wind and rain, I peered out through the side gate on this quiet afternoon, cursing my own stupidity.

I was wondering how long I would have to wait when a woman passing outside answered my shouts.

She had very little English, but I managed to explain the situation to her, give her my front door keys and tell her where to find the back door key.

Finally liberated from the garden, I wanted to thank her, but didn't find out her address.

She was going for an interview for a job at a nearby care home and had arrived here from Libya via Greece only a few weeks previously.

She'd made herself late by stopping to help me and I would love to see her again to thank her properly. Her name is Aphrodite.

Just now it seems all of Europe, but especially the UK, is suffering from near-paranoia about a supposed threat to our standard of living caused by the need to help people escaping from desperate situations in other countries.

So, I hope we can still recognise that these feared immigrants can also be friends and good Samaritans to us.

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Teachers to run marathon for charity fundraiser in memory of student Frank

By Clare Cassey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THE mother of a teenager who took his own life after battling depression has praised his teachers for keeping "the memory of my beautiful, fantastic, boy alive" by trying to raise thousands for a children's charity.

Fourteen teachers from Highlands School are hoping to raise more than £30,000 for ChildLine, a confidential help and advice telephone line, run by the NSPCC, by running the London Marathon in Frank O'Donoghue's honour.

The teachers, dubbed Team Highlands, will be wearing T-shirts printed with the face of Frank, 16, who took his own life in September last year at Enfield Chase train station after suffering with depression.

Frank's mum, Eve Stickler, said she was "extremely pleased and moved" by their actions.

She said: "I am really touched that they are doing something so positive in Frank's memory. Frank was a fantastic, caring, sensitive, funny boy and cared deeply about all his friends.

"He was successful at school, he was a great listener, he was fantastic. He was my baby boy."

The student had just entered the sixth form at Highlands, in Worlds End Lane, Winchmore Hill, after receiving a string of excellent GCSE results when he died.

Friends and family have already raised more than £6,000 for YoungMinds, the UK's leading charity for children's mental health.

And the school has raised more than a third of its £32,000 goal for ChildLine after holding a series of events this year – and more are planned ahead of the marathon next month.

Headteacher Bruce Goddard paid tribute to Frank this week, saying his "radiant smile brought joy to people's lives".

"Frank was a lovely, caring boy," he said. "He got great GCSE results and was a pleasure to know. He had a beautiful and radiant smile."

Mr Goddard is one of the 14 members of staff running the marathon on April 24.

He said: "ChildLine is one of the main services of support for children when they particularly need it. Those of us running went to ChildLine and they told us that staff shortages mean that one in five calls from children go unanswered.

"It's so important that children know that when they call, there will be someone supportive on the other end to talk to.

"Everyone at school has been really wonderful with a whole range of fundraising activities – everything from cake sales to a charity auction where a signed Spurs shirt went for £1,500.

'A pleasure to know': Frank O'Donoghue, who died last year

"Spurs have agreed to a collection before their match on Sunday, so hopefully we will get £1,000 there."

'First-rate homes in a great setting'

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

PROGRESS on a huge new housing development in New Southgate has won praise from Enfield's housing chief.

On a visit to the Ladderswood site, which will eventually have more than 500 homes on it, cabinet member for housing Ahmet Oykener was impressed with what he saw.

The first 40 homes should be finished by the autumn and work on the next 190 will start next spring, with the completion date for the whole project estimated to be late in 2019.

Mr Oykener, who got things started last year by swinging a sledgehammer in the direction of ageing Curtis House, said: "Ladderswood is a key regeneration scheme in Enfield which will provide first-rate homes for hundreds of residents in a great setting."

"I'm delighted the first phase of the scheme is due to be completed in the autumn."

"Enfield Council is absolutely committed to improving and increasing the supply of housing in this borough to tackle the current pressure we are experiencing and this development will play a key role in increasing the amount of housing stock available in Enfield for residents."

The site will also have a community centre, an 80-bedroom hotel and an energy centre, which will be operated by energetik, a company set up and owned by the council.

The energy centre will provide heating and hot water throughout the estate, which is being redeveloped by New Ladderswood LLP, a joint venture between developer Mulalley and housing association One Housing.

Demolition man: Councillor Ahmet Oykener got things started at Curtis House on the Ladderswood site

The site will also bring much-needed job opportunities through the new hotel and 1,400 square metres of commercial space.

One Housing manages more than 15,000 homes across 27 London boroughs and surrounding counties and cares for more than 11,500 people to help them live independently.

It is a "not-for-profit" company which raises money to be used for the construction of more affordable homes by building and selling new homes on the open market or renting them out commercially.

Mulalley is a family-owned residential developer and construction group.

'Help us protect at-risk children'

By Adrian Colley

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

ENFIELD Council is backing new efforts to protect children by urging people to contact social services if they suspect abuse.

The London-wide campaign is asking residents not to bury their fears, but to take action if they are worried about a child's welfare.

Ayfer Orhan, Enfield Council's cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, said: "All children have the right to be safe from all types of abuse and neglect and Enfield Council is absolutely determined to protect young people in our borough.

"We all have a role to play in protecting children and young people from child abuse and neglect and we are calling on everyone to help us do that.

"A third of people who suspect child abuse, do nothing. A number of people do not act on their suspicions because they're worried about being wrong.

"We're saying you don't have to be absolutely certain about your suspicions. If you have a feeling that something's not right, talk to our children's social care team, who can look into it."

Ms Orhan said that the social services team would gather information from a wide range of sources and reports to form a bigger picture of possible incidents of abuse.

"It is estimated that more than 400,000 children in England were helped in 2014/15 because someone noticed they needed help and was brave enough to report them to social services," she added.

Conference will outline anti-bullying strategy

A CONFERENCE aimed at highlighting the dangers of bullying will take place next week.

Teachers and students at Suffolks Primary School, in Brick Lane, Enfield, will take part in a series of workshops designed by Dave Brown, a consultant given the task of developing a bullying prevention strategy for schools.

The strategy, which he hopes will be adopted across the borough, is a move away from current thinking around dealing with bullying in the classroom.

Mr Brown said: "I believe we need a systematic approach to tackle bullying.

He said: "Effective bullying prevention starts in the staff room. Tackling bullying needs to change completely from anti-bullying, which is reactive, to prevention, which addresses the sources of bullying behaviours. As soon as we react, we're too late."

Hosted by EduKit, a social enterprise that links teacher and development programmes, the day will focus on the process of developing a bullying prevention strategy for schools and will aim to bring together the borough's education chiefs. A teenage entrepreneur who considered taking his own life because of constant bullying will be a guest speaker.

Ollie Forsyth, 17, who has since set up a website selling gifts, said: "I was severely bullied at school. I wanted to end my life, but I said to myself I am going to be a millionaire one day and those bullies will be working for me."

Ayfer Orhan, Enfield Council's cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, will also be attending the conference on Tuesday.

FOOD HYGIENE RATINGS...

Food premises are inspected to make sure the food they sell is safe to eat. In order to do this inspectors from Enfield Council will look at the premises, the kind of food that is made or prepared, how the chefs work and what food safety management systems are in place.

Your local 5 Star scores on the Doors...

A business, such as the restaurants featured here can be given one of these hygiene ratings.

The food safety officer inspecting a business checks how well the business is meeting the law by looking at:

- how hygienically the food is handled - how it is prepared, cooked, re-heated, cooled and stored.
- the condition of the structure of the buildings - the cleanliness, layout, lighting, ventilation and other facilities
- how the business manages and records what it does to make sure food is safe.

At the end of the inspection, the business is given one of the six ratings. The top rating of '5' means that the business was found to have 'very good' hygiene standards. Any business should be able to reach this top rating. The food safety officer will explain to the person who owns or manages the business what improvements are needed and how they can achieve the top rating of '5'. The local authority will check these improvements are made.

If you think you've got what it takes to be a five star fave get in touch with Enfield Council on:

Candidate shocked at air pollution findings

ILLEGAL levels of air pollution have been measured outside two Enfield schools.

Measurements show that concentrations of toxic pollutant nitrogen dioxide exceed the legal level in several parts of the borough.

The study was carried out by the Green Party, which attached sample tubes to lampposts and sent them off for analysis four weeks later.

This week, Ronald Stewart, the Green Party candidate for the London Assembly election in Enfield and Haringey, said: "This has shocked even me, even though I expected the results to be bad."

"Children are particularly at risk from air pollution as their developing lungs are especially vulnerable."

The tests found that air pollution levels outside two primary schools – Bowes, in Bowes Road, New Southgate, and Tottenham, in Tottenham Road, Palmers Green, exceeded legal limits.

The Bowes level was over the limit by 66 per cent.

Mr Stewart said that levels outside a third school, Eversley Primary, in Chaseville Park Road, Winchmore Hill, were legal, "but still worryingly high".

Shocked: Green Party candidate Ronald Stewart is concerned at the results

Anna Wilkinson, a mum of a child at Bowes school, said: "I am really worried about these figures. I knew the air was bad along the North Circular, but the problem is clearly much more widespread."

The legal limit of nitrogen dioxide in the air is 40mg per cubic metre. On stretches of the North Circular, it was recorded at 75mg.

Green Party activists were handing out leaflets about air pollution at various locations around Enfield on Monday.

Rent freeze offers relief

By Clare Cassey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

SOME of the poorest and most vulnerable residents in Enfield have had their rents frozen for a year to help "ease their financial burden".

Housing Gateway – the Enfield Council-owned company that buys up property and uses it to move people out of expensive temporary accommodation – has announced it is freezing rents for the next financial year.

The company manages more than 160 properties across Enfield. It saves the authority a "significant" amount of money because it does not have to pay for temporary accommodation.

The chairman of Housing Gateway's board and the council's cabinet member for finance and efficiency Andrew Stafford, said: "Housing Gateway houses some of the poorest and most vulnerable residents in Enfield, so I am pleased that, by working with the council, we have managed to freeze rents for next year to ease their financial burden."

"As an independent, well-run, financially solvent company, Housing Gateway is balancing its books and taking a sensible and compassionate approach to setting rent levels and we remain committed to doing everything we can to improve the quality of life for residents."

Rent will remain at £255.34 per week for two-bedroom properties, £315.12 for a three-bedroom property and £388.65 for a four-bedroom property.

Mr Stafford said that the rent levels were in line with the government's decision to

Easter Greetings

from Churches Together in Southgate, Oakwood and Cockfosters
We warmly invite you to our Easter Services

Churches Together in Southgate, Oakwood and Cockfosters comprises eight churches of different Christian traditions seeking to work together to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ

We invite you to explore what Easter really means and its relevance for us today by joining one of our services

On Good Friday Christians world-wide remember the cruel execution of Jesus Christ as a demonstration of God's love for us all.

On Easter Sunday Christians world-wide celebrate the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, thus providing victory over death.

Good Friday Walk of Witness

On Good Friday Christians world-wide remember the cruel execution of Jesus Christ. But how can that be good? It's good because Jesus' death on the cross shows us the extent of God's love for us. In Jesus Christ God gave himself, so that we can be forgiven. Join us as we follow the Cross through the streets of Southgate together to a service at St Andrew's Church, Chase Side N14. Meet 9.15am. Christ Church, Waterfall Road.

Council aims to tackle scourge of hate crime with new campaign

COUNCIL chiefs have launched a campaign to clamp down on hate crime.

The new initiative will focus on tackling all forms of crimes that are directed against people based on their gender, sexuality, faith, race or disability.

Residents are being encouraged to report crimes of this nature by calling police on 101 or by ringing Enfield Council on 020 8379 4612.

There is also a new app called Self Evident that people can download from iTunes or Google Play.

The cabinet member for community organisations and culture Yasemin Brett said: "We work incredibly hard to understand and build relationships with all our diverse communities.

"Hate crime has no place in our communities and we all have a part to play in challenging it."

Fish is on the menu as school unveils all-new state-of-the-art kitchen

CHILDREN at a primary school in the borough celebrated the completion of their new, state-of-the-art kitchen with a menu of fishy delights last week.

The £500,000 kitchen at Lavender Primary School, in Lavender Road, Enfield, opened with a day of special child-friendly fish recipes.

Enfield Council's school catering service won a Marine Stewardship Council award for sourcing sustainable fish and laid out a menu of tasty fish dishes for youngsters at the school to sample.

Associate headteacher Lesley Hill said: "The new kitchen is extremely well-equipped with modern cooking aids and our catering staff are finding it a pleasure to prepare food in it."

Tales of Tommy recall the ultimate sacrifice

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THE horrendous conditions and ever-present danger of death faced by soldiers in the trenches during World War I has proven fertile material for authors, poets and playwrights alike.

And the subject matter forms the focus around which the one-man play Meet Tommy Atkins at artsdepot, in Nether Street, North Finchley, tomorrow (Thursday) revolves.

The eponymous Tommy Atkins, to which the title refers, is slang for a common soldier and is how British troops came to be known as Tommies.

The play is written by Peter Gill, who also stars. He portrays Private Atkins as an old man in his living room reminiscing about his life.

Speaking directly to the audience, he recalls being called up as a reservist in 1914 when he was approaching middle age and serving in some of the bloodiest fighting at Ypres, Passendale and the Somme.

In turn, he reflects on the horror, the boredom, the fear of being gassed and the rare moments of joy and empathy, recalling how during a temporary pause in hostilities at Christmas, the British and German soldiers exchanged gifts, kicked a football around and came to the realisation they were basically all the same.

It is an engaging and compelling tale of a man who experiences the worst inhumanities, including the death of his own son, who is also serving on the Western Front, but whose spirit is not dimmed.

Initially, he is bitter at the way returning "heroes" were forgotten, but comradeship and pride become his overriding emotions.

He marvels how he can now draw a pension – something his father and grandfather could not do – and on the benefits of a welfare state.

And, remembering the ultimate sacrifice made by his own son, Tommy poignantly observes: "He gave up his todays for our better tomorrows".

A soldier's story: The experiences of servicemen such as the one pictured above are described by Peter Gill, inset, during the course of his one-man show, Meet Tommy Atkins at artsdepot

SO MUCH TO SEE AND DO

End of the world as we know it

10 CLOVERFIELD LANE (15, 103 MINS)

TWO'S company, three's a paranoia-riddled crowd in 10 Cloverfield Lane, a thrilling companion piece to the 2008 found footage sci-fi Cloverfield, which witnessed an otherworldly attack on New York City through the lens of a resident's camcorder.

The monsters in Dan Trachtenberg's suffocating three-hander are distinctly human but no less terrifying, driven to acts of violence and barbarity in the name of self-preservation.

"People are strange creatures. You can't always convince them that safety is in their best interest," muses one of the protagonists.

Josh Campbell, Matt Stuecken and Damien Chazelle's ambiguous script keeps us guessing about where that safety might be, constantly shifting the balance of power between characters whose ulterior motives are shrouded in mystery.

Every time we think we have a grasp on the slippery narrative, the film pulls another rug from under us, flinging us into a mire of nerve-jangling confusion.

The less you know about this picture before the lights dim, the better.

In an affectionate nod to Hitchcock's Psycho, the director cranks up the tension with opening shots of a young woman Michelle (Mary Elizabeth Winstead), driving away from her old life in the city. She stops for petrol and takes a pleading telephone call from her boyfriend Ben (voiced by Bradley Cooper) shortly before her car spins out of control and plummets down a bank. She regains consciousness in an underground bunker, at the mercy of a survivalist called Howard Stambler (John Goodman).

Bunkered: John Goodman as Howard and Mary Elizabeth Winstead as Michelle

"You're lucky to be here at all," he informs Michelle cryptically.

As she regains her strength, Michelle learns that Howard saved her and his neighbour Emmett (John Gallagher Jr) shortly before a devastating global attack rendered the surface of the Earth uninhabitable.

The trio are safely cocooned within an airtight bunker, 40 feet below the polluted surface without any telephone signal, until the air is breathable again. "How long do we have to wait?" asks Michelle. "Depends on the proximity of the blast: one year, maybe two," speculates Howard.

The survivors have water, food and electricity thanks to Howard's ingenuity and immaculate forward planning and make the best of a hellish situation.

However, Michelle isn't sure if she can trust everything that Howard tells her. 10 Cloverfield Lane is a polished masterclass in suggestion that sends chills down the spine with unsettling regularity.

Goodman is genuinely creepy as the conspiracy theorist who doesn't tolerate defiance of his rules in his underground lair.

Trachtenberg's direction draws on the claustrophobic setting to plant seeds of doubt and suspicion, including a couple of thrilling action sequences with delightfully unexpected pay-offs.

Get your foot on the ladder in Cockfosters at Bolingbroke Park

Contemporary new housing development, Bolingbroke Park, by leading housing provider L&Q, offers Londoners parkland living alongside a London lifestyle.

A city retreat a stone's throw away from Cockfosters' tranquil parkland yet within half an hour of Central London for commuting and leisure, Bolingbroke Park is the perfect solution to today's modern, busy lifestyles. It is ideal for first-time buyers seeking to get a foot onto London's property ladder, and young professionals who are looking to put down roots, get more home for their money and still in easy reach of the capital's attractions. It also offers stylish three- and four-bedroom family homes, ready to grow into if the need arises for more space.

The 212 properties are arranged in attractive crescents, set amidst tranquil green space. Olivia Court is a collection of contemporary two- and three-bedroom apartments featuring spacious private balconies or terraces with views over the landscaped grounds – providing the perfect city retreat. Cleverly designed to make the best use of space and maximise natural light, each home has a contemporary open-plan design built to the highest specification with built-in wardrobes, integrated appliances and fully-fitted bathrooms and kitchens.

Perfect for the busy commuter, the development benefits from excellent transport links by Tube, road, rail and bus meaning that residents can enjoy quick and easy journeys to work, as well as being in reach of the capital's attractions on the weekends.

Bolingbroke Park is just a few minutes' walk from Cockfosters station, the first stop on the Piccadilly Line. The station dates back to the 1930s, and the art deco building is Grade II listed, providing an attractive gateway to the neighbourhood. This easy connection to the centre of London offers both seats and fast links to employment centres and transport hubs across the city with links to Kings Cross (29 minutes), Oxford Circus (33 minutes), Bank and Waterloo (both 40 minutes), while Heathrow and City Airport are both just over an hour from residents' doorsteps.

Bolingbroke Park is also located within striking distance of the North Circular and M25, both of which are only ten minutes' drive away. Nearby New Barnet station offers fast train links across London, and gives commuters rapid access to Kings Cross, Highbury and Islington and Old Street, all of which are between 15 and 30 minutes away.

Bolingbroke Park is set amid 12 acres of green open space and the wider Cockfosters area is well-known for its vast expanses of green space and so, with its excellent connections to the centre of London, Bolingbroke Park is in the perfect location for buyers who are looking for a fusion of city and country living and the ease of commuting into the capital. Trent Park is minutes away, and boasts 413 acres of rolling meadows, brooks and lakes. The park is home to a plethora of wildlife including deer and pheasants, and is perfect for walking, jogging and cycling. The variety of open space in the surrounding area perfectly complements the landscaped grounds and gardens of the Bolingbroke Park development. The development is located just moments away from a thriving centre with a village feel: a range of independent shops and boutiques, including delicatessens and fishmongers, as well as traditional country pubs and the popular Saracens Amateur Rugby Club and Chickenshed theatre.

Cathy Lloyd, Sales and Marketing Director at L&Q, said: "Bolingbroke Park offers buyers the perfect opportunity to get on the property ladder and enjoy a mixture of country and city lifestyles. Excellent transport links across London by rail and road enable residents to enjoy the capital at their leisure or explore further afield at weekends".

Available properties start at £475,750 for a two-bedroom, two-bathroom home with a spacious balcony.

Roomy, robust and flexible

By Matt Kimberley

THE Kia Sportage arrived on our roads in 1993 as a boxy, unreliable, utilitarian style vacuum. Kia itself was a newcomer to Britain, peddling budget South Korean cars by the hundred rather than the thousand, and the brand was probably at the bottom of the desirability pile.

Two decades later and the fourth-generation Sportage shows how far the brand and the model have come. More Brits buy Sportages than almost any other SUV, making it one of the brand's most important models, and Kia itself has worked hard to put the cheerful into cheap.

Sophisticated looks aren't this segment's strong point, but there's definitely a bit of Porsche Cayenne in the Sportage if it's dark and you squirt. Overall, it's a good-looking car, though brown and gold colours give it a slightly reptilian edge.

Inside, the Sportage feels more old-fashioned. Hard plastics and very conventional design make the model feel unremarkable to occupants. Everything feels rugged but less exotic than the much-improved exterior.

The Sportage is roomy, robust and flexible – more so than some competitors – and it feels built to withstand the realities of family life. The back seats are comfy enough for a couple of large adults to travel in comfort and the huge flat-bottomed 491-litre boot would accommodate everyone's clobber with ease.

The Sportage offers more than a suggestion of off-road performance. Four-wheel-drive adds real practicality to this SUV, especially with the button that splits torque equally between the front and rear wheels. This 'lock mode', reminiscent of manual diff locks on much older cars, is effective at speeds of up to 25mph.

Useful when everyone else at the party is playing muddy dogdams in their front-wheel-drive SUVs.

It even drives nicely. The 1.7-litre diesel feels like it has much more power than it really does, and the manual gearbox can be fun when you ask it to. Body roll is nicely contained and the ride is fine with all but the very largest alloys.

The seven-speed dual-clutch automatic gearbox is too fluffy to express any real sense of urgency when pulling out at junctions. This is true of the 2.0-litre diesel, too, even in the pricey top-spec First Edition model. It manages the car's torque well at low speeds, though, and is at least quite quiet.

In fact, the pricing makes this a curious model. The car starts at around £18,000, which will buy you a very basic – but still perfectly adequate – SUV. At the other end of the scale, the £33,000 'First Edition' has all the bells and whistles (including the underwhelming auto 'box') but competes with badges like Land Rover and Audi. The 'best' Sportage is probably the manual 1.7-litre diesel in KX-4 trim, but at around £30,000 many will head in the direction of a premium competitor.

In short, the mid-range Sportages are excellent value, while at the top and bottom ends of the pricing structure, buyers are starting to make compromises.

This is a car for someone who isn't bothered by brands. The Kia Sportage will be a hugely popular car, mainly among people who want to pay between £20,000 and £30,000 for a big, roomy, family barge. It's hard to recommend the most expensive Sportages, as they're up against some seriously good alternatives, but a mid-range four-wheel-drive model will be all the car most families will ever need.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

The Transport and Works Act 1992

The Transport and Works (Applications and Objections Procedure) (England and Wales) Rules 2006

Proposed Network Rail (Northumberland Park Level Crossing and Coppermill Lane Level Crossing Closure) Order

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR AN ORDER

Network Rail Infrastructure Limited ("Network Rail") of 1 Eversholt Street, London, NW1 2DN, is applying to the Secretary of State for Transport under section 6 of the Transport and Works Act 1992, for the above-mentioned order under sections 1 and 5 of that Act.

The draft Order makes provision for –

- The creation of a new public right of way over a new footbridge at Northumberland Park in the London Borough of Haringey;
- The closure of Northumberland Park level crossing;
- The stopping up of a public right of way over an existing stepped footbridge adjacent to the Northumberland Park Level Crossing;
- The closure of Coppermill Lane level crossing; and
- The right for compensation to be paid to any person who suffers a loss as a result of the extinguishment of a private right of way

This Secretary of State has determined that the application is not to be made subject to an environmental statement.

The application contains a statement that a direction for deemed planning permission is being applied for.

A copy of the TWA application and of all plans and other documents submitted with it, may be inspected free of charge from 22 March 2016 to 10 May 2016 at the following places and times:

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for the advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. # WALKER'S RELIEF AT VITAL VICTORY

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

KYLE WALKER believes that it was vitally important that Tottenham Hotspur picked up maximum points at Aston Villa on Sunday to get back on track following a disappointing run of results.

An understrength side had been beaten 3-0 at Borussia Dortmund in the Europa League on Thursday night to leave them with just two wins in seven matches in all competitions.

But they put that behind them at the weekend as two goals from Harry Kane helped them to ease to a 2-0 victory at basement side Villa to enable them to temporarily close to within two points of Premier League leaders Leicester – although the table-toppers increased their advantage back to five points by overcoming Newcastle United on Monday night.

And right-back Walker feels that the triumph could help to re-ignite their season heading into the closing stages of the campaign.

"It's a massive win," Walker said. "We lost at West Ham, drew against Arsenal, lost to a good side in Dortmund and it was time to get back on track. We did that well.

"As a team I thought we set our stall out well. If there is anything negative perhaps we got a bit sloppy near the end, but we went there to get the three points and did that.

"Hopefully we can kick-start the season again and keep going. It's down to us in every game and we know we have enough quality in the dressing room, home or away."

Head coach Mauricio Pochettino was equally delighted with the outcome, believing that it will give the squad a confidence boost following their heavy defeat in Germany.

He said: "It was very important to get the three points and to recover the good feeling after the game against Borussia Dortmund, where the feeling wasn't very good. Now it's important to keep in our way, keep this feeling and prepare for the next game.

Back on track: Kyle Walker was pleased to see Tottenham Hotspur return to winning ways on Sunday after a difficult run of results

"Games like this one are always difficult. The most important thing is that we showed respect from the beginning and at no time played thinking like they are at the bottom of the table.

"It was an important win and now we have some days to recover ahead of the second leg against Dortmund on Thursday. That will be difficult from 3-0 down but we will try to win the game and turn the tie around.

"It will be difficult because we have Borussia Dortmund in front of us and I think they are one of the best teams in Europe, but we need to try."

Borough seal a point against Thurrock

HARINGEY BOROUGH secured a 2-2 draw against high-flying Thurrock in Ryman League Division One North on Saturday as they took to the field at their home ground of Coles Park for the first time in more than three months.

Problems with the pitch had prevented Borough from playing at Coles Park since December 1, causing them to switch a number of home matches to Tilbury's Chadfields ground – but the pitch had improved enough to enable this clash to take place.

Second-placed Thurrock looked the more threatening side in the early exchanges, with Reece Morgan and Ronnie Winn both having efforts blocked, but the match turned dramatically in the hosts' favour as they scored twice in the space of three minutes.

Anthony McDonald grabbed the opening goal as he curled a shot inside keeper Rhys Madden's near post before Joshua Willer was left with a simple tap-in after a cross got stuck on the heavy pitch.

The visitors laid siege to the Borough goal as they looked to reduce their deficit and Lewis Clark had a header tipped over by home keeper Harry Palmer before Winn fired over from a good position.

And Thurrock got themselves back in the match by reducing their deficit on the stroke of half-time after being awarded a penalty for a foul on David Cowley. Harry Agombar's spot kick was turned on to the post by Palmer, but Agombar latched on to the rebound and drilled it into the net.

The start of the second half saw the visitors continue to do most of the attacking, and they eventually grabbed an equaliser when Lewwis Spence and Charlie Cole combined to set up Cowley, who drilled a shot through a crowded penalty area and beyond Palmer.

Thurrock looked by far the more likely winners after this and they thought they had snatched all three points when Ross Wall put the ball in the net deep in stoppage time – but the goal was disallowed for offside as the visitors escaped with a draw.

Haringey Borough make the trip to Brightlingsea Regent on Saturday (3pm).

Skolars secure their first league win

THE London Skolars kick-started their season on Saturday as they secured a 26-16 victory at home to Oxford in rugby league's Kingstone Press Championship One.

The Skolars had been beaten at York City Knight in their opening league match the previous week and had also suffered a humbling Challenge Cup exit at the hands of amateur outfit Pilkington Recs, but they took advantage of their first home match of the campaign to grind out a hard-fought victory.

The hosts went into an early lead on four minutes when Jermaine Coleman offloaded for Will Lovell to score down the right, and they went further ahead when they created an overlap for John Paxton to touch down in the left corner – with Charlie Lawrence adding the conversion.

However, an error from a high kick gave Oxford a scrum five yards out and Casey Canterbury picked the ball up from the base of the scrum and raced past the defence to score.

The visitors then enjoyed a spell of sustained pressure, but the Skolars held firm and began to take control of the game again – eventually gaining their reward when Ben Pointer forced his way over the line. Mike Bishay's successful conversion gave the hosts a 16-6 lead at half-time.

The advantage was extended early in the second period when John Magrin found space on the left and managed to claim a try.

But the contest then entered a scrappy phase which ended when the Skolars conceded a penalty in a dangerous position and Harvey Burnett made the most of this by scoring for the visitors.

Oxford went on to close the gap to just six points with ten minutes remaining as Tom Holmes chipped the ball past Alex Anthony and regathered before racing 30 yards to score a try which Nathan Kitson converted.

The Skolars were not to be denied though and they made sure of victory two minutes later when Eddie Mbaraga broke through the visitors' defence to score the decisive try.
